INFRARED BODY

Medispa far-Infrared (FIR) Body is a patented Organic Nano-Carbon™ wave body warming system. Designed for use with body treatments. It is free from radioactivity and warms the skin naturally like the sun. Our bodies already radiate far-infrared from 3-50 microns, with most at 9.4 microns. This new technology mimics the energy already found in the body.

Our unique FIR carbon based body device does not involve the movement of air, noise, nor does it require direct contact for the delivery of its energy. Surrounding air is not warmed during application, making the treatment pleasant and unlike an infrared sauna.

Clients experience a relaxing and warming sensation that makes the skin exceptionally soft, hydrated and refreshed. Skincare treatment products applied and then left under the FIR device penetrate the skin 3 times faster than without infrared treatment. When the skin is warmed it allows the skin to absorb precious ingredients rapidly enhancing the effects for the client.

Our carbon based FIR body allows the absorption of electromagnetic energy at a frequency such that the photon energy is equal to a quantum excitation energy of the absorbing system. This process is called resonant absorption; it excites the human body producing numerous physical changes within the body that are directly responsible for improved health and wellness.

The Medispa Infrared Body is safe and can be used to enhance any body treatment. Your clients will love their skin after a treatment and benefit from the many therapeutic uses from far-infrared invisible light technology.
